AGOURA HILLS, Calif. – EnviroSolve Corporation (EnviroSolve) & Safety Unlimited, Inc. (Safety Unlimited) announce the formation of a joint-venture to create health and safety management tools for online use. The new company will be located in Agoura Hills, California. A technical team has begun development of their first product, which is scheduled to be released in the first quarter of 2007.

“Forming a joint-venture to pool our technical resources made sense,” commented John Batchelder, EnviroSolve president. “Both companies bring complimentary skills related to environmental, health and safety practice areas, in addition to information technology development experience.”

“We are very pleased to have joined forces with EnviroSolve in this venture and are looking forward to the roll-out of our first Web-based product in 2007,” remarked Jules Griggs, president of Safety Unlimited. “I can’t comment specifically on what we are working on. However, we think the new tool will significantly increase productivity in the HAZWOPER health and safety planning area.”
